COME AND JOIN THE FUN IN THE COASTAL VILLAGE OF LONGNIDDRY

In East Lothian (15 miles east of Edinburgh), all sorts of events will be taking place, encouraging locals and visitors alike to love folk music in all its glory. And the great news is ... it's all free. Thanks to the kindness of our musicians and venues and to the generous support of Longniddry Parish Church, we are able to bring you music with no tickets, no charges, no barriers to great fun. Just turn up and find your place. But remember ... come early, because once a venue's full it's full!

Saturday 20th, 7.30pm:

Folk at the Inn

Bring an instrument or a voice to the Longniddry Inn for a fun evening of open mic entertainment.

Sunday 21st, 2pm:

"Folk on their Feet" Bird Walk

Starting by Longniddry station, we will wander to the coast, taking in the bird life, then head to the church for soup and song.

Sunday 21st, 7.30pm:

Folk on Flute

Longniddry Church plays host to an evening of sweet, lyrical music for the flute, spanning the worlds of folk and classical.

Monday 22nd, 7.30pm:

Folk is Fun

Longniddry Library is the venue for that minister of mirth, the Rev Alec Shuttleworth, with special guests, Incognito.

Tuesday 23rd, 2-4pm:

Dulcimers Galore

Come to Longniddry Bowling Club to see, hear and try for yourself a beautiful selection of American mountain dulcimers.

Tuesday 23rd, 7.30pm:

European Film Premiere

It's back to the church for the first screening in Europe of the documentary, 'Hearts of the Dulcimer', followed by a Q&A session with Californian film-makers, Patricia Delich and Wayne Jiang, plus some live dulcimer music!

Wednesday 24th, 7pm:

Bluegrass goes to School

Scotland's top bluegrass band, Goldrush, performs its lively numbers with the help of senior pupils at Longniddry Primary.

Thursday 25th, 8pm:

Balladeers and Story-tellers

Donald Smith and David Robertson celebrate the narrative traditions of Scotland at Longniddry Royal British Legion.

Friday 26th, 7.30pm:

Longniddry's got Folk

We end the week at the church, showcasing the musicianship which our village and its friends have to offer.

Many thanks for the support of all our wonderful venues, super-talented musicians and our generous supporters: East Lothian Council, Longniddry Community Council, The Longniddry Inn and Longniddry Rotary Club. Festival organised by Longniddry Parish Church (Church of Scotland): SC016556
